HISTORY

JOHN JACOBS
1922-1958

John Clark Jacobs was an institution at the University of Oklahoma. The laconic, modest fellow, known for his honesty and dry humor, coached OU track and field, beginning in 1922, and cross country teams, beginning in 1928, for 46 seasons. His 37 years as a head coach are the most by any coach of any sport in the Sooners' history. OU's on-campus track and field facility bears his name and hosts an annual meet bearing his name.

The lanky farmer's boy was born September 9, 1892, at his family's Garland, Texas, homestead. He attended high school in Mangum, Okla., where he excelled as a baseball player. Jacobs first stepped foot on the Norman campus in 1912 and became hooked on track after seeing his first meet; he tried out for the sport to escape the "boredom" of physical education classes.

Jacobs was high point scorer of the Southwest Conference Championships in 1914 and once held school records in the high hurdles, low hurdles, high jump and long jump. He also ran the anchor leg on the Sooners' mile relay team.

He married co-ed Daphne Dobson, a music major, in 1915, graduated the next year and took jobs teaching and coaching at high schools in Corsicana and Sherman, Texas, and Ponca City, Okla.

"I didn't know nothin' about nothin'," he said. "A former Texas player who owned a coal yard helped me. I'd go see him in the evening and he'd take 11 chunks of coal and show me some plays."

His Sherman football team went undefeated and won the Texas State Championship.

Jacobs returned to his alma mater in 1922 at the request of athletics director Bennie Owen and became the school's first track and field coach. Track scholarships did not exist at the time, so Jacobs brought athletes to Oklahoma by finding them part-time jobs. Much of what he found was noted for its amusing variety.

He found midnight jobs for athletes like Ansel Young, who worked nights at the railway express office and often had to be awakened from his room in the afternoon to throw the javelin at home meets. Parker Shelby, three-time Drake Relays high jump champion, worked as an attendant at the State Hospital in downtown Norman. Floyd Lochner, an NCAA two-mile champion, brought a jersey cow to campus and arose before dawn to milk and sell its product on his customer route.

Jacobs was also forced to train his athletes in adverse conditions.

Since OU did not have a steam-heated indoor track like other conference schools, his squad practiced on an unheated layout beneath the east stands of the football stadium in the winter that Jacobs coined "Pneumonia Downs." When water from melting snow leaked through the football seats overhead down onto the tiny dirt track, the runners brought out their umbrellas and shivered through practices.

"Only kids raised on cornbread and bean soup can stand it under there," Jacobs quipped. "The bottle babies won't last."

His indoor teams swept three consecutive conference championships from 1927 to 1929 and his outdoor squads won 19 consecutive dual meets between 1924 and 1929 and the conference title in 1934.

Jacobs was the head coach of the first cross country team in 1928. It did not take him long to find success as they won the Big Six championship the next year.

Despite the anonymity of the sport, Jacobs' humor animated it. Before a 1952 dual with Colorado, Jacobs joked, "I'm makin' Colorado carry the heaviest jersey numbers."

He chuckled as the teams left the start. His team wore numbers 30 through 35. The Buffaloes had been assigned 203 through 208.

The coach's unyielding integrity was illustrated during a wartime dual meet with Kansas. The result went down to the final mile relay. Oklahoma won the race and the meet when John Sharp, its anchor, dove beneath the string to pass the Kansas anchor, igniting the crowd into a frenzy that blocked Jacobs' view of the finish.

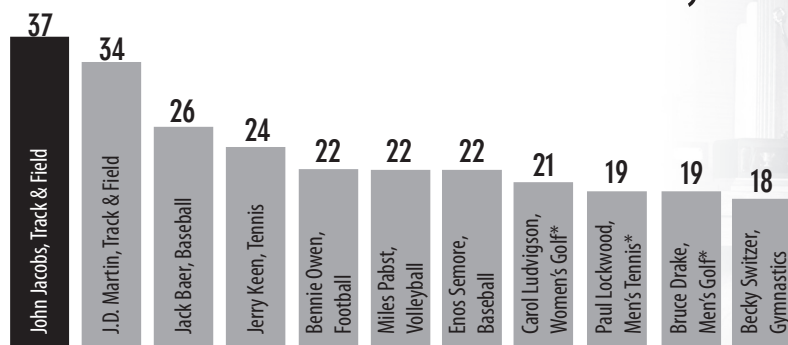

Legendary Kansas coach Bill Easton protested to Jacobs that the Kansas runner's feet had crossed the finish line first, so Jacobs assembled the judges and explained the rule. The judges declared Kansas the victor.

A 14-inch walnut plaque presented to him in 1958 by fellow Big Eight Conference coaches expressed their opinion of him. "To John Jacobs," the inscription read, "A spirited but friendly and always honorable opponent."

He traded jobs with his assistant, Bill Carroll, at his own request, in 1958 and remained with the program for eight more years. He retired in 1966 as an associate to J.D. Martin.

Jacobs was head coach for 37 years, outlasting all other head coaches in Oklahoma history.

*Drake also coached basketball from 1939-55. Lockwood and Ludvigson are still active.

A legacy to remember

John Jacobs' specialty was converting underachievers into champions.

In 1950, Jacobs sculpted Bruce Drummond, a cross country standout from Tulsa who did not even place in the state mile his senior year, into a college miler who could run 440 yards in 49 seconds and set a Texas Relays mile record.

Jacobs turned Warren Rouse, an unknown Tonkawa, Okla., undergrad, into a Big Seven outdoor two-mile champion after discovering him at an intramural track meet in 1951.

He coached Caroline McDermott, who lived three blocks away from him, to the National Junior AAU Women's 80-meter low hurdles championship.

Jacobs also fancied coaching odd events like the septathlon and steeplechase and was an American pioneer of the triple jump.

Oklahoma placed first, second and fourth in the triple jump at the 1946 Drake Relays, with Bill Weaver, a drama major who later changed his name to Dennis and won an Emmy for his role as Chester in "Gunsmoke", joining John Gough and Hobo Gilstrap on the podium.

Unlike many track coaches who raucously strolled the infield during a meet, Jacobs would retreat as far from the action as possible, posting himself in the stadium bleachers or beneath the end zone scoreboard. He believed that a track meet was for the athletes and coaches should be neither seen nor heard.

Jacobs wore blue serge suits, black shoes and a soft gray hat. He carried pocketfuls of candy and smoked carelessly, holding his cigarettes between his thumb and index finger and flaring his remaining fingers to brush off the ash.

Jacobs formed the original design of the current Oklahoma track and field complex that bears his name by angling the grandstand away from the straightaway so fans did not have to stand to see all the action.

During his tenure, Jacobs coached four Olympians—Tom Churchill, Glenn Dawson, J.W. Mashburn and Neville Price—and five NCAA champions.

In two months, Jacobs took Mashburn from a 440-yard runner into a decathlon champion at the Kansas Relays.

A place in history

Jacobs was honored several times during and after his coaching career.

He was inducted into the Helms Foundation Hall of Fame in 1957, the Oklahoma Athletic Hall of Fame in 1977 and the Coaches Hall of Fame at the 71st Drake Relays in 1980 along with Notre Dame's Knute Rockne and Ed Weir of Nebraska. Jacobs was also named honorary referee of the Texas, Kansas and Drake Relays.

"An honorary referee is like an honorary pallbearer," Jacobs remarked, "too old to carry the casket."

Jacobs was a lifelong Sooner and so were his sons. Bill was an accomplished high jumper and basketball player and John, Jr. was a member of the golf team.

Jacobs died in Waco, Texas, at the age of 85 following a long illness. He is buried in Norman.

In his mind, he was around simply because he had always been around. He never believed he deserved accolades from what his athletes accomplished.

"The secret to track coaching," explained Jacobs, "is to find a real good man who can beat heck out of anybody else. He'll make you look like the best coach in the world."

Jacobs believed that many could do the job as well as he. History believes differently.

HISTORY

BILL CARROLL

Bill Carroll was John Jacobs' handpicked replacement as cross country and track and field coach at the University of Oklahoma. Carroll was virtually a carbon copy of Jacobs—a tall, lanky former OU track star with two sons, who were coincidentally named John and William.

Carroll was truly Jacobs' protégé and was elated to have his mentor continue as an assistant.

"I can never fill his shoes," Carroll acknowledged. "He's forgotten more than I'll ever know. I'm gladdest of all that he is staying on."

Carroll's impact on the OU program was immediate.

His first season netted fourth place at the cross country conference championship, a second-place finish at indoor track championships and third during the outdoor season.

The coach guided his Sooners to a Big Eight Indoor Championship in 1960, his second season, breaking Kansas' eight-year monopoly of the indoor title. In his third year, Carroll steered OU to its first outdoor conference title in 27 years, bumping the Jayhawks off yet another throne and their nine-year reign of the outdoor championship. The Sooners won the outdoor again the next year.

Carroll's quick success delivered several honors.

In 1959, Carroll won an AAU polling of the nation's track coaches to determine coaches of American teams on foreign tours. As the leading vote getter, Carroll got first choice of the tours and chose to direct an American team bound for Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Switzerland.

In 1962, during his fourth year at the helm, Carroll was named honorary referee of the Arkansas Relays.

C.A. Bidwell, the Arkansas coach, wrote to Carroll, "Your outstanding contribution to track is known throughout the country and we will be privileged to have you accept this assignment for our relays."

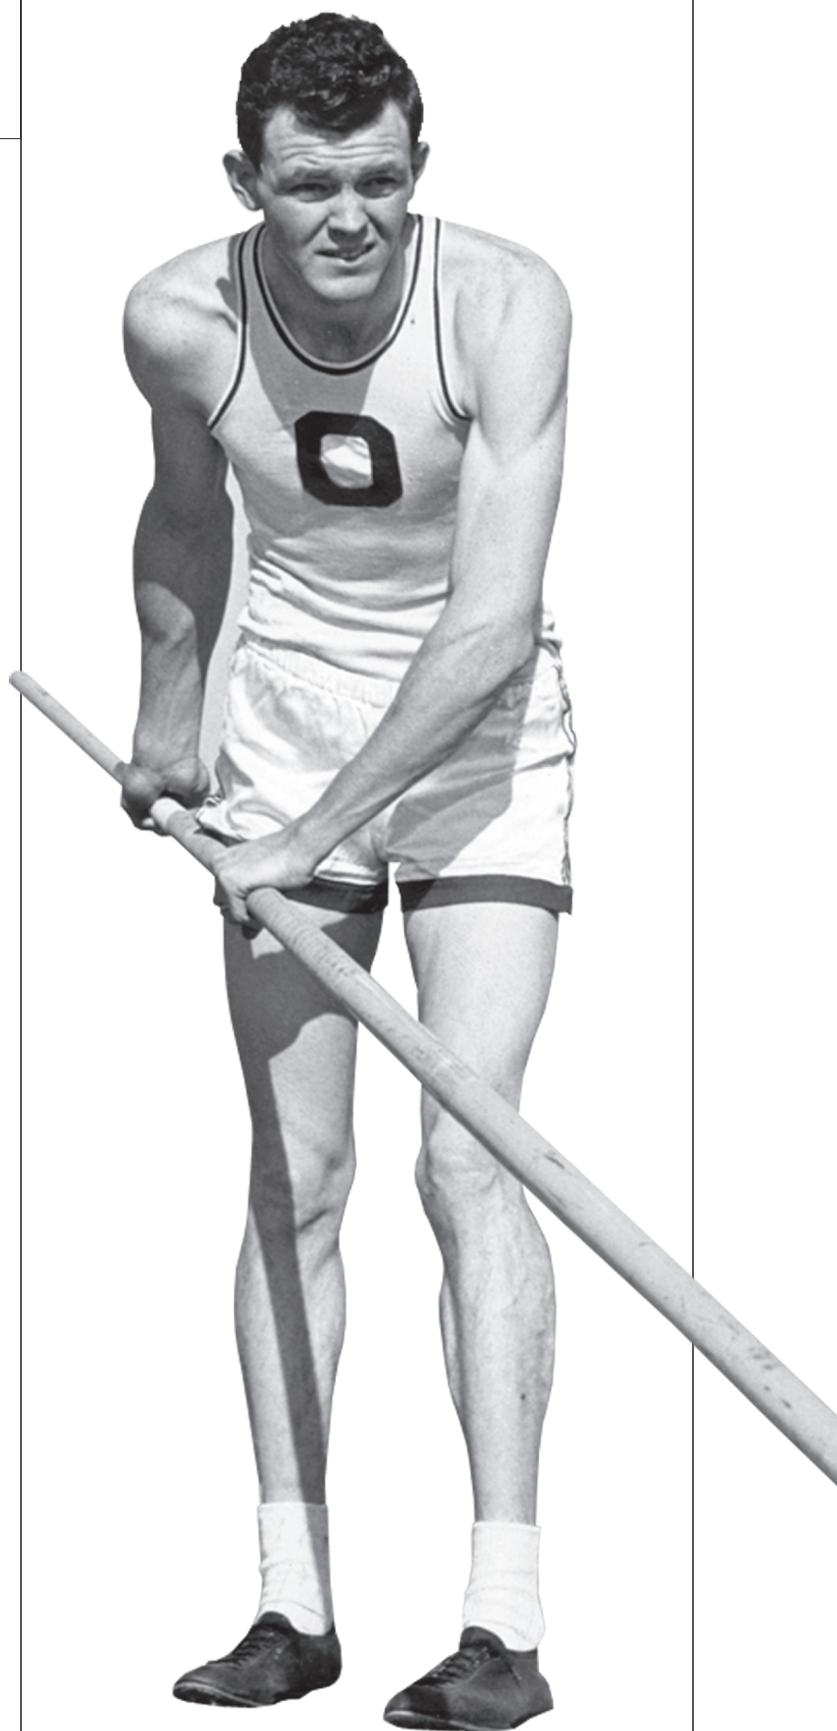

Carroll also accepted an invitation that summer to coach the U.S. military team in the Conseil International du Sport Militaire Track and Field Championships, a 14-nation meet held in The Netherlands.

The Okemah, Okla., native was a state high school pole vault champion in 1943, crossing an 11-foot bar with a pole he borrowed from the Sooner track team. He also won consecutive high school regional championships.

After high school, Carroll served a four-year tour of duty for the Navy during World War II.

Carroll rewrote the record books as a member of the OU track team from 1947 to 1950. He set the meet record with a 14 foot, 5 inch vault at the Kansas Relays in 1950 and won the award for most outstanding athlete. The vault was also a school record that held for nine years until J.D. Martin, the 1960 NCAA pole vault champion and Carroll's future replacement, eclipsed it. Carroll also tied for second place at the 1949 NCAA Championships in Los Angeles.

Before returning to his alma mater as an assistant, Carroll coached at Southwestern College in Winfield, Kan., and Wentworth Military Academy in Lexington, Mo.

J.D. MARTIN

1965-1997

J.D. Martin gave up Olympic glory to become the University of Oklahoma's then-youngest coach ever at the age of 25.

"I've always dreamed of some day coaching at Oklahoma," Martin once said. "The OU job was the only one I ever wanted."

Martin replaced Bill Carroll, who shifted careers to banking, after spending two years teaching industrial arts and physical education at Midwest City schools. . . that, and competing for a spot on the U.S. Olympic decathlon team.

Martin grew up in, Erick, Okla., the son of farmer-ranchers. He never fantasized of athletic glory or even leaving the farm; he expected to take over the land his parents toiled when he grew older.

Fate would have it differently.

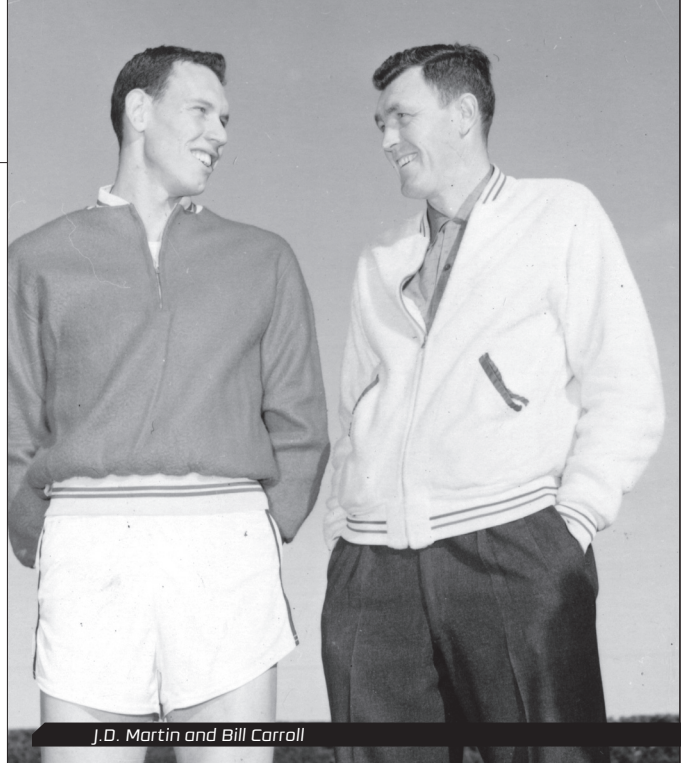

The towering 6-foot-5-inch Martin was built for athletic stardom. Despite having more interest in both football and basketball, it was his high school principal who first introduced track to young J.D. as a means of developing his fundamental skills in the other two sports—a principal who just a few years earlier cut baseball in favor of adding track and field.

Martin demonstrated an uncanny knack for pole vaulting and it became his favorite pastime.

Each of the neighborhood kids would dig pits in their backyards and practice their vaults after school each day. Martin would show up with a bamboo pole cut from his father's tree and stood uncontested at every home.

In 1957, he won the state championship in the pole vault and placed second in the low hurdles. His talents, self described as "not being that good" earned him a scholarship from legendary OU coach John Jacobs.

College success came quickly. Martin finished second in the 1959 NCAA Championships, his sophomore year, and won the national title the next. Martin also swept the Texas, Kansas and Drake Relays in 1960, setting meet records at Austin and Des Moines.

J.D. Martin and Bill Carroll

He won Big Eight Conference indoor and outdoor championships and surpassed the world record with a sail of 15 feet, 9 ¾ inches during a meet in Norman that was disallowed because the stand was turned around to keep the high wind from blowing the bar off.

He was a collegiate All-American in 1959, 1960 and 1961 and a member of the AAU All-America Team in 1960. But, Martin wanted another challenge.

OU coach Bill Carroll allowed Martin to participate in the decathlon events his senior year only after much nagging. He trained with future star Bill Toomey. Martin taught Toomey how to do vaults and hurdles while Toomey taught Martin how to compete in dashes. He finished third at the AAU Championships, setting a new pole vault record, and won the gold medal at the 1963 Pan American Games in Sao Paulo, Brazil.

Martin was set on advancing through the Olympic Trials when the call came from then-athletics director Gomer Jones.

Martin became as accomplished of a coach as he was an athlete.

During his tenure he became recognized as one of the nation's premiere men's and women's track and field coaches. He coached 22 national champions and more than 200 All-Americans, including every Sooner ever named to an All-American cross country team.

Martin's success with student-athletes may be attributed to the relationships he kept with them.

"J.D. was close to his athletes," said Pete Kron, who spent 23 years as an assistant with Martin after winning four letters from OU track and field. "He made it a point to know them not only as athletes, but as people. That makes a difference."

Martin turned kids like John Lee Smith, who was considered a potential academic failure by his high school coaches, into a 3.0 GPA business student who became the director of athletics at Langston University and Randy Wilson, an Iowa farm boy and average runner, into a member of the 1980 U.S. Olympic 800-meter squad.

When Martin took over the women's team in 1978, he kept his success rate high, developing 30 women into All-Americans in 18 years.

J.D. Martin announced his retirement after 33 years. During his tenure, the Sooners produced national champions in the two-mile relay (1977 and 1980) and mile relay (1982, 1983 and 1984). The 1984 mile relay team became the first NCAA Division I team in history to win both the indoor and outdoor titles in the same season.

In his final season as OU's head coach in 1997, his 1,600-meter relay team of Roxbert Martin, Danny McFarlane, Ryan Kite and Edward Clarke won the national championship and set the fastest time run in the world that year at the Big 12 Outdoor Championships. Roxbert Martin also became a national champion in the 400-meter dash as a sophomore. He produced 13 All-Americans that year and his squad finished a school-best fourth in the NCAA Outdoor Championships.

"J.D. Martin is a very special person," former associate athletics director Marita Hynes said. "He has been a great teacher, coach and mentor to many young people and his dedication and contributions to Oklahoma athletics will always be remembered."

Martin was bestowed with several honors. He was inducted into the Drake Relays Coaches Hall of Fame in 1990, watched two of his athletes -- Jason Rouser, of the gold medal-winning U.S. 1,600-meter relay team, and Roxbert Martin, of the bronze medal-winning Jamaican 1,600-meter relay team -- stand on the same Olympic podium in 1996 in Atlanta. He is honored annually by OU with the J.D. Martin Invitational track meet. However, his most amazing accomplishment may be his least decorated.

After a 10-year layoff from competition, Martin entered the National Seniors' Decathlon meet in 1974 where he not only won his division, but set a record and outscored the winner of the age division below his own.

Entering 1964, Martin was aiming for Olympic gold. Four decades later and counting, hundreds of athletes are happy he never got it.

HISTORY

JILL LANCASTER

1998-2005

Oklahoma wanted to bring in someone familiar with the program when J.D. Martin retired in 1997. That is one of the reasons the administration brought in former Sooner Jill Lancaster. Lancaster came back to OU with extensive coaching experience. She got her first coaching job as an OU assistant (1983-86) after competing for the team for four seasons (1978-81).

Lancaster built the Sooner combined event program from scratch. Her athletes scored in the Big 12 in each of her final six years and recorded most of the top 10 all-time marks in school history.

While she worked primarily with the combined event entries and the vertical jumpers, she played a key role in the recruiting of a number of other Sooners including several NCAA qualifiers.

The coaching staff built by Lancaster and co-head coach Rodney Price led the Sooner women to an all-time best finish of fourth in the 2004 NCAA Midwest Regional.

She led two Sooners to Big 12 titles. Justin Conkling won the Big 12 heptathlon title in February 2001, the first Sooner man to win a Big 12 combined event title. In that same meet, Janel Hayes won the long jump title.

Lancaster celebrated her first Sooner All-Americans when Hayes earned the honor in the long jump in 2001 with her 10th-place finish at the NAAs. One day later, Conkling finished fifth in the decathlon to earn All-America honors as well. Hayes later earned NCAA Woman of the Year honors for the state of Oklahoma.

Lancaster spent four years at Kansas State before accepting the job at OU in 1997. While she was with the Wildcat track program, Lancaster's duties included overseeing the sprinters, hurdlers and jumpers. In addition, Lancaster was in charge of recruiting and helped bring one of the largest classes in the school's history to Manhattan. The Wildcats hosted the U.S. Indoor Track and Field Multi-Event Championship in 1996 and 1997 and Lancaster served as meet director for the event.

Before her four-year stint at Kansas State, Lancaster served as the head women's track coach at Toledo. While at Toledo, Lancaster was a two-time Mid-American Conference Coach of the Year, in 1990 and 1992. She also helped develop long jumper Candy Campbell, who jumped 21-1.5, to become the first track & field All-American in Toledo's history. Lancaster helped guide her athletes to 30 MAC titles, as well as 29 outdoor and 27 indoor school records.

During the 1987-88 track season, Lancaster was an assistant coach at Kansas. She began her coaching career at OU as an assistant coach under legendary J.D. Martin.

As a student-athlete at OU, Lancaster was a three-time All-American. After her collegiate career was completed, she continued her competitive career and went on to win the 1988 TAC Indoor National Championship pentathlon. She also finished fourth in the heptathlon at the TAC Outdoor National Championship the same year. Following the TAC Championships, Lancaster had a strong showing at the Olympic Trials, placing 14th in the heptathlon. She also was a part of four national combined event teams. She is listed on the all-time American ranking list for her performances during the 1988 track & field season in the heptathlon.

Lancaster was inducted into the Drake Relays Hall of Fame after winning the heptathlon title five times.

RODNEY PRICE

At Oklahoma, Rodney Price produced several conference champions including Michael Blackwood, whose winning time in the 2000 Big 12 Outdoor meet stood as the world's fastest time for nearly a month. He also coached Staneshia Bell, the first Sooner woman to win a Big 12 indoor title.

His Sooners also did well at the national level, adding more than 40 names to the All-America list including Alesha Peel, LaBoris Bean and the 2001 men's outdoor 1600-meter relay.

He continued to work with Blackwood after the sprinter's collegiate career ended. In September 2002, Blackwood ended the IAAF season as the number one ranked 400-meter runner in the world. In August 2004, Blackwood competed in the Olympic Games in the 400-meter dash and on the 1600-meter relay as a member of Jamaica's team. Another member of that relay team was Davian Clarke, another sprinter coached by Price during his tenure at the University of Miami.

Prior to coming to OU, Price served as the men's track coach at the University of Miami (Fla.) for seven years. With the Hurricanes, he coached four All-Americans, including Clarke. Clarke was a bronze medalist for the Jamaican National team at the 1996 Olympic Summer Games in Atlanta, Ga. That same year, Clarke won the 1996 NCAA 400 meter outdoor title. After coaching Clarke to Miami's first national championship, Price was named the 1996 USA Track and Field Florida Coach of the Year.

Under his guidance, UM track athletes set 34 outdoor and 25 indoor school records.

In 1992 the Hurricanes became a member of the Big East Conference, Price guided his athletes to four Big East Most Outstanding Performer titles and helped them set three Big East records.

From 1977-79 Price was a physical education and after school recreation teacher at Parkway Elementary in Lubbock, Texas. He then became the track coach at Smylie Wilson Junior High, where he stayed from 1979-1982. In 1982 he moved to McAlester, Okla., where he was the assistant football and head track coach until 1984. From there he went to Lubbock High School, where he was the assistant football and assistant track coach from 1984-86.

Price also spent time at Northeastern Oklahoma A&M College. At NEO, Price assembled Norsemen teams that produced seven NJCAA All-Americans.

Price then served a stint at Nebraska where he directed the women's sprinters and hurdlers. Under his guidance, Cornhusker student-athletes earned All-America honors 12 times.

A native of Wilburton, Okla., Price began his competitive collegiate career at Eastern Oklahoma State College. As a freshman, Price set a national junior college meet record with his time of 13.83 in the 120-yard high hurdles. After completing his junior college career, Price went on to compete for Texas Tech during his junior and senior seasons.
